8. Public Hearing Public School Impact Fee Study

The Board of County Commissioners earlier contracted with Tischler & Associates, Inc. for $57,500 for the preparation of a Public School Impact Fee Study. Impact fees are one-time payments that are used to construct public facilities needed to accommodate new development and are proportionate to the school capital facility service demands for the respective categories of residential development. Tischler & Associates evaluated possible methodologies and documented appropriate demand indicators for the impact fees. Specific capital costs have been identified using local data and current dollars. The report also includes a summary table indicating the specific factors used to derive the impact fee. These factors are also referred to as level-of-service (LOS) standards. The incremental expansion method, the most appropriate methodology, documents the current LOS for each type of public school in both quantitative and qualitative measures. The consultant calculated school impact fees for Durham County based on data from the previous school year. The school impact fee methodology is based on current public school student generation rates, local costs, and level-of-service standards.
